CURIOSITY??

Tuesday 20 November 2012
from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Venue: France - Amériques
9 avenue Franklin Roosevelt – 75008 Paris

Michael F. O'Brien, the Associate Administrator for International and Interagency Relations will be speaking to us about Curiosity, the Martian rover on Mars, NASA and its present and future international activities. Mr. O'Brien is responsible for NASA's interaction with Executive Branch offices and agencies, international relations for each NASA Mission Directorate, administration of export control and international technology transfer programs, and NASA advisory councils and commissions.

Mr. O'Brien came to NASA from the United States Navy. He served as a naval aviator in command positions and in Washington on the staffs of the Chief of Naval Operations and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He also served as the Deputy Director for Research at the Institute for National Strategic Studies in Washington. As a Navy combat pilot, he commanded a Navy carrier-based attack squadron, and has made over 900 aircraft carrier landings in high performance jet aircraft. Mr. O'Brien has also served as a physicist for the Department of the Navy.

Champagne and canapés will follow the discussion

Price: Members (FA/ACP) 25 € / Guests 30 €
